Transitioning from isolated GO to the Adaptive Employee Experience (AEE)

Positive employee experiences are increasingly important in today's business world. Employees are the heart and soul of your company and what they expect from you continues to evolve.

With AEE, isolated is adapting to meet these shifting needs and simplifying HR management across the entire organization. The enhanced user interface is designed with today's employee in mind, featuring consumer-grade technology and user-friendly elements.

This document provides information on the decommissioning of the isolated GO Mobile App and the transition to Adaptive Employee Experience (AEE). It provides need to know information on how to effectively make this transition as well as provides details on how to use AEE.

AEE includes all the GO app self-service features and MORE! Please refer to the information in the Appendix for a more detailed comparison of what AEE provides.

In addition, the AEE Guide also provides enablement material that will help share this exciting news with impacted employees and to help them get up and running with AEE.

To help ease the transition to AEE, NCR will be providing instructional training sessions throughout June and July. This training will provide you with the information you will need to prepare yourselves for the upcoming rollout.

Register for these Webinars by clicking on the "Click Here to Register" link for the desired date/time. Although each session will provide the same information, please feel free to register multiple times. Each webinar will last approximately 75 minutes.

The link to join a designated session is provided as well and will be included in the email reminders you will receive as we get closer to each scheduled session.
